Remembering events in the upper Sangro in January 1944

The photograph below was taken by Oberleutnant Anton Wehinger (see portrait) of the 578th Grenadier Regiment on 19 January 1944 of members of the 2nd Battalion of the London Irish Rifles captured in an attack in the upper Sangro River valley. The London Irish lost five men killed; 12 wounded and 19 taken prisoner.

Anton Wehinger was awarded an Iron Cross in January 1945 and survived the war. He died in 2012.

We are grateful to Alessandro Teti in Castel del Rio for his help in researching this story.
